Old Church — New Life

5th November 2017

Jesus, Joy and Fellowship

Over November we're looking at Paul's letter to the Philippians, one of Paul's later letters, written while in prison. Paul writes of the gospel, of joy, fellowship and co-workers. The irony lies in the letter's context, of Paul writing about joy and joy in Christ while he sits seemingly rotting in a prison cell.

Paul could so easily hold a pity party but instead he only stirs the Philippian Christians to consider their prayers for him and each other, their service of one another and their focus in life, all in the light of the servant King who will one day be seen to be the King of Kings. He speaks of these matters in the light of the fellowship they all enjoy with the crucified Christ.

Paul also writes this letter as a Christian leader so very mindful of what is and what will be, of our citizenship in heaven, a country we only experience and enjoy in part but will in fullness when Jesus returns. It's a letter that calls us to consider the present in our hope for the future that lay in God.
